VOL. LXXXVIII. CENTRE HALL, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1915. NO. 28

NEXT SEASON'S LECTURE COURSE.

Three Lectures and Two Musicals of Highest Order Selected by Committee.

The Lecture Course committee met a short time ago at the home of S. W. Smith. Members were Revs. R. R. Jones, and F. H. Foss, Messrs. W. W. Spangler, G. L. Goodhart and S. W. Smith. The following officers were elected for the year: Rev. F. H. Foss, president; Rev. R. R. Jones, secretary; S. W. Smith, treasurer.

A course was selected for the current year, consisting of three lectures and two musical numbers, as follows: The Davenny Festival Quintet, a very highly recommended musical number. The committee believe this number to be so far superior to any that has ever been in Centre Hall before, to warrant an increased admission. The admission for this particular number will be fifty cents, which includes a reserved seat. For all other numbers the admission will be the same as last year, namely, 25 cents for lectures and 35 cents for musicals, with an extra charge of five cents for those desiring reserved seats.

The second number is to be a lecture, called a "Peace Lecture." It is likely that Dr. Hamilton Holt, editor of "The Independent," will deliver this lecture. The "Carnegie Endowment for International Peace" has secured several high priced platform lecturers to deliver "Peace Lectures." All we pay for these first class men is a nominal sum sufficient to cover traveling expenses.

The third and fourth numbers are lectures, the first by Dr. G. Whitefield Ray, and the second by Dr. Andrew Johnson. Both come very highly recommended.

The fifth is a musical number by the Doros De Leon Company. This is a general concert number consisting of vocal and instrumental music, and also a reader.

Course tickets for all five numbers will sell at the usual price of one dollar per seat. Holders of course tickets are permitted to retain the same seat as last year, provided the secretary be so notified before date of expiration of notice.

The treasurer's report for the year 1914-15 was presented at a meeting held June 10, and is as follows:

Pletcher Named Assistant Superintendent.

A. Milford Pletcher of Blanchard was appointed assistant superintendent of public schools in this county by County Superintendent D. O. Etters. The salary is $1200. The appointment is under a law passed by the legislature several years ago, but it was inoperative owing to the fact that there was no appropriation for the salary. Mr. Pletcher was a candidate for the office of county superintendent of schools, before this law was passed, and later made a preliminary skirmish for the nomination for prothonotary on the Republican ticket, and it has been generally understood since that when conditions could bring it about he would be named the assistant to Mr. Etters. Mr. Pletcher will no doubt serve the public with as much enthusiasm and credit as any other school man who might have been named, but it is a question whether or not the office is one that will be of real benefit to the public school system in counties like Centre.

At this meeting the electric light question will be fully discussed, rates and conditions quoted, and it is requested that all citizens interested in the welfare of borough be present.

This notice appears at the suggestion of W. Frank Bradford, secretary of the borough council, the council desiring to have the conditions named by the State-Centre Electric Company fully understood by the citizens so that they can have their advice on future action in the regular sessions of the body.

Made Gruesome Find.

Harry Spigelmire of Lewistown Junction made a gruesome find Sunday afternoon when in the vicinity of the borough cinder dump at the river bend below the bridge he came upon the severed head and part of the torn body of Lee Roy Shoemaker, the seven-year-old boy who on the afternoon of July 5th last was struck by a speeding passenger train on the high bridge opposite the Mifflin county home.

Attached to the head were part of the breast, the left arm and shoulder along with the hand. It is evident that the dismembered parts were washed down the Kishacoquillas a distance of more than a mile since the tragic accident occurred.

The busiest man in all the wide world at the present time is the farmer. Nearly everyone is haymaking and harvesting at the same time.

TABERNACLE MEETINGS NOW IN FULL SWING.

Evangelist Brown and Party Open Campaign Auspiciously. Special Lecture for Men on Sunday.

The evangelistic services in the big tabernacle on the new school ground opened Saturday evening with much enthusiasm. Evangelist Brown is surpassing the most pleasant anticipation of the most optimistic, and all are much pleased with his manner, and style of speech. Clear and forceful, he fearlessly denounces sin in the blackest of terms, and has won the admiration of all by his strong logic, pleasing manner, and fearless denunciation of unrighteousness. Many rank his sermons above those of Sunday, Beiderwolf, and Stough, and it is generally recognized that Mr. Brown in a comparatively short time will have the same national reputation that these others have acquired. He is a terror to the devil. One man from Millheim, where Mr. Brown's last meeting was held, said in this boro last Sunday, "Support Mr. Brown, and follow his guidance, and you won't go wrong. He is the greatest force for righteousness that ever came to Millheim. He has brought happiness and eternal life to hundreds of men and women in Millheim and vicinity."

LEE F. MOSSO
Soloist and Bible Reader

The singing under the direction of Prof. Goodwin, is taking on importance in the minds of everyone. Already one-half of his 200 singers have gathered, and on last Sunday night when the chorus of 100 voices pealed forth the strains of "All Hail Immanuel," all were impressed. Certainly the music is soul inspiring to a large degree. The solo work of Mr. Mosso is fine, and his bible readings are exceedingly helpful. He shows how to study the Bible in a very enlightening way.

The campaign is organized under the same general methods as Sunday's meetings, and with comparative success.

Prayer meetings were held throughout the town Tuesday morning. The town has been divided into northern, central and southern divisions and a place for these meetings selected in each. In the northern division at the home of H. W. Kreamer; in the central division at the home of G. L. Goodhart, and in the southern division at the home of W. W. Spangler.

Co-operation is the keynote for success in the campaign and it appears as though this quality is existing in great measure. Meetings are being held every night but Monday. On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock Rev. Brown will deliver a lecture for men only, all males over twelve years of age being admitted.

Pasture Best for Pigs.

Experiments with growing pigs for the past two seasons at the Pennsylvania State College, said Dr. H. H. Havner, of the animal husbandry department, indicate strongly the advantage of pasture crops during the summer months. By the use of a rotation of pasture crops it is possible to keep green feed for the pigs throughout entire growing season. The pasture will result in the saving of grain feed which means a more economic method of pork production. Still further advantages of this system of management are a better thrift of the pigs and improving the fertility of the land upon which the pasture lots are located.

During the summer of 1914 when corn was worth 70 cents a bushel, the cost of a pound of grain was 5.6 cents dry lot against 4.4 cents on pasture. The pasture crops used should be selected with a view to supplying a satisfactory crop for early spring and summer, for mid-summer and for early fall. The rotation which has been used during the past two summers is rye for very early spring pasture followed by oats and peas, rape and oats, corn and rape.

WILL BUY OUT TURNPIKES.

State Highway Commissioner Will Not Tolerate Holding Out for Fancy Prices, However.

Plans to rid Pennsylvania of one of its incubuses has been initiated by State Highway Commissioner Cunningham, who will endeavor to acquire the property of the various turnpike companies still existing in the state and thereby put the toll gate on the scrap heap. Particular emphasis has been placed on the point that efforts on the part of the companies to "hold up" the State for fancy prices will not be tolerated.

Negotiations already have been opened with a number of turnpike companies and the department's offers have indicated that while the desire is to pay a fair and reasonable price, no "get-rich-quick" schemes will be permitted. To circumvent such a possible event, Commissioner Cunningham has prepared two powerful weapons—one against the company and a second against the county.

Where companies evidence a desire to hold out for more than their property is worth in the face of all persuasion, the department plans to build a rival road. This rival State road will run parallel with the private turnpike and will connect with the main State highway. The toll road then will be left to its fate.

In counties where the disposition of turnpike companies and the county authorities is not to play fair with the department, Commissioner Cunningham plans to transfer the funds to other counties where conditions are more favorable. The department will thus leave these counties to pick their way out of the muddle as best they can.

This latter plan would only be used in cases where the County Commissioners show a tendency to side with the turnpike owners against the State. Commissioner Cunningham acknowledged that such action would be most drastic and would not be followed except in extreme cases. However, he is determined to get a penny's worth for each cent expended for this cause, just as has been the department's policy since he was appointed by Governor Brumbaugh.

The last Legislature appropriated $250,000 toward purchasing toll roads that now interrupt the state highway system as outlined under the Sproul act of 1911. The turnpike companies with which negotiations already have been opened are regarded as being the most important in the highway system. Expectations are that they will be purchased within the next few months so as to clear the main highways of the toll gates.

Route No. 29, known as the Centre and Kishacoquillas turnpike, crossing the mountain at Centre Hall, is one of the turnpikes which the state purposes to buy out.

Experiment Station in Aviation.

The engineering experiment station at the Pennsylvania State College will co-operate with the United States Government's new Board of Aviation to work for the development of the American aviation corps and place it ahead of the sky-fighting machinery of the other nations. Experiments will be conducted to measure the lifting power of the various sizes of planes.

A circular railway track a quarter of a mile long has been erected. The track carries a car operated by an arm from a central station within the circle. Overhead planes are attached to the car by delicate springs supplied with gauges. As the car speeds around the track the operator seated upon it records the readings of the gauges. From the material thus collected will be calculated the variations of power in size of planes and changes of speed.

State College's experiment station is the pioneer in this particular field of investigation.

The Ben Greet Players.

The world famous Ben Greet players will present two of Shakespear's plays in the open air theatre, on the front campus, at State College, Saturday, July 31st. At the matinee in the afternoon "Taming of the Shrew" will be presented, and in the evening "Twelfth Night." In case of rain the performance will be given in the Auditorium. Prices 50c and 75c.

Entertainment at Tusseyville.

Misses Gertrude Ishler and Mary Keibler, graduates of an institution for the blind, will give a high-order entertainment, under the auspices of the Y. P. P., consisting of singing, recitations, etc., in the Union church at Tusseyville, Thursday evening, July 29th. Everybody is invited.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Runkle take this method of expressing their thanks to the neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and death of Miss Lizzie Stover.

ANOTHER PRAISES BEAUTIES OF OLD PENNS VALLEY.

Inspired by Letters from California, Rev. A. A. Kerlin, of Maryland, Adds to Praise of Old Home Scenes.—Says There'll Be Big Peach Crop.

Editor Reporter:—

We are confronted with so much war and political news, so much of murder, suicide and divorce, that it is rest for mind and body to read such letters as appeared in the Reporter last week, one from Mary Ellen Lose and one from William Zerby. The former presents a comparison between Pennsylvania and California which will make some Californians sweat, and puts Pennsylvania in the front rank of states where she truly belongs.

Her graphic account of the picturesqueness of the Seven Mountains sent a thrill through my soul and body. It made me feel younger, and gave me a desire to traverse those mountains just once more with gun and rod. I lived close to them for thirty years and knew almost every mile of them from Stone Valley to the Lewistown pike: Tussey, Valley Path, Thick Head, Sand, Bald, Short and Stone Mountains—seven in number. I think of them every day and, once in a while, draw outlines of them with their many gaps and loops.

Two favorite resorts were Bear Meadows and Stone Gap, where Centre, Mifflin and Huntingdon corner. Both were isolated, wild, weird, with bear hollows, bear tracks in the sand, rattlesnakes, pure water, rugged scenery. I was happy there.

This is a lovely country, the Cumberland Valley, 90 miles long and in places 25 wide, mostly limestone soil, fine houses and large barns, the best of roads, the Blue Mountains in the distance, the Antietam battlefield and National cemetery, but I can say of Centre county what David, when in exile, said of Jerusalem—"If ever I forget thee may my right hand forget her cunning and my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth." No doubt the lady who wrote the letter feels just as I do, no matter how pretty and fertile California may be.

The letter of William Zerby is on another subject but equally interesting. It tells us of the perils and inconveniences of pioneers, what they suffered and endured. It should be a lesson to the present generation with every convenience the heart could desire. Yet in the mad rush for more money, for more pleasure every day of the week, Sunday not excepted, we forget what our fathers and mothers, sacred to our memories, endured to secure these legacies of convenience, plenty and ease. The way had to be prepared, the land cleared of timber and stone, and brother Zerby, with hundreds of others, endured, that following generations might enjoy present conveniences. But we forget. This letter will remind us that we are reaping where we never sowed and are gathering fruit from vines and trees which others planted.

Brother Zerby tells of his school suit, blue drill trousers, a straw hat with no top to it, and minus shoes. A vast contrast to the dudes and dudesses of today who spend much of their time studying the fashions. I remember when every farmer boy's suit cost fifty-five cents. Two yards blue drill, two of muslin, chip hat and a half a yard of six cent calico for a vest. And often we went to Presbyterian Sunday-school, in Bellefonte. Keep on going to church, brother Zerby; your reward is near.

I visited our daughter, in Philadelphia, in May; went over again in June to marry a young lady who once lived here. On Saturday of that week, the Centre county association of that city, met in Fairmount Park, but I had to leave for home that day and, to my regret, could not be with them. And I am missing the reunion of the Pine Grove Mills Academy students, at Bellefonte, this week. Sorry, but duties here prevent. I visited D. K. Geiss and daughters when in Philadelphia. They have a nice home, on a lovely street, are doing well and are happy. We will have an abundant crop of peaches but few apples.

A. A. KERLIN.

Sharpsburg, Md., July 8, 1915.

Dr. Hawes Accepts Call.

Rev. Dr. George Hawes, for the past four years pastor of the Presbyterian church, Bellefonte, has accepted a call to become pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian church at Harrisburg. Official announcement was made to the congregation at that place on Sunday. Rev. Hawes expects to assume his new duties in September.

Penrose's Auto Ablaze.

Senator Penrose suffered the loss of his big red automobile on Sunday, when the machine back-fired and started a blaze which enveloped the entire car. The mishap occurred near Greensburg. None of the party was injured.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST FROM ALL PARTS

An epidemic of whooping cough is prevalent in and about Centre Hall.

Ed. L. Bartholomew of Altoona spent Sunday with relatives here.

Prof. C. Wasson of Coburn made a business trip to Centre Hall one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Reitz of Mercer are guests of the latter's mother and sister, Mrs. Margaret Thomas and Miss Jennie Thomas.

While assisting in the erection of the tabernacle, on Friday, Alfred Crawford fell and broke a bone in the thumb of his right hand.

Mrs. W. A. Reiber and four children of Johnstown are spending some time at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bartger.

Robert Meyer, who is employed in the shops at Burnham, is spending a week at home, during which time he is assisting the farmers in the hay field.

A large number of Centre Hall people are planning to take advantage of the excursion to Atlantic City, Saturday night, returning home early Monday morning.

J. C. Swab of Erie was a caller at this office on Thursday of last week. He spent a week or more with his brothers, James and William Swab, at Linden Hall.

Wednesday, August 11, has been set as the time for holding the reunion of the Penns Valley Lutheran charge. Grange Park will be the picnic ground. The Loysville orphan's band will be an attraction of the day.

An automobile party, consisting of E. S. Ripka, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ripka, Miss Grace Ripka, and Paul Ripka, enjoyed a trip one day last week, through Mifflin, Juniata, Snyder and Union counties.

The National hotel at Millheim, of which Isaac A. Shawver was proprietor for a number of years, was recently sold to Fred L. McCrossin, of Mederis. As soon as the necessary transfer of license is made the new proprietor will assume control.

Edward Jamison, tenant on the William Homan farm along the pike east of Old Fort, was one of the Reporter's callers on Friday and reported all his hay made. The crop was cured between showers, which he concluded required more or less skill to do.

Sunday was an ideal day for pleasure seekers, and there was a constant run of automobiles through Centre Hall all day long. Pennants indicated that some came from far distances. A group of motorcyclists from Altoona stopped at the local hotel for dinner.

Mildred Swabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Swabb, east of Old Fort, was found in an unconscious condition, in the stable back of a horse. Bruises on her side indicated that the animal kicked her. The little girl has now apparently wholly recovered from the injuries.

Joseph Carson, foreman of State road repair work, and force of men, are ready to start on Route No. 307, from Potters Mills to State College, this week. All the work preliminary to State road construction will be done by this crew to the Harris township line, at which point Foreman William Stuart will carry on the work to State College.

M. L. Emerick, the village smithy, has been suffering with rheumatism in his brawny right arm to such an extent that he has been working under great difficulty for some time past. Mr. Emerick is the only horseshoer within a radius of six miles and taking care of the large trade in this territory alone has caused him to be a much overworked man.

Calvin S. Bodtorf of Colyer was a business caller at this office Monday and casually remarked of the success with which his son, John E. Bodtorf, is meeting in the ice cream and confectionery business in Jersey Shore. Mr. Bodtorf recently returned from a week's visit to that place and learned that the junior Bodtorf was catering to the best trade in that hustling Lycoming county town.

Co-operation is being tried out by Sheriff A. B. Lee, Foster Frazier and William Homan who own farms along Sinking Creek, near the base of Egg Hill Mountain. These owners have joined forces and will tap a spring of pure mountain water on Egg Hill and conduct it by gravity for the distance of a mile or more and distribute it to convenient points in or near the farm buildings. These farms heretofore have depended on cistern water, and the change will be highly appreciated by the tenants, Messrs. James Swabb and Edward Jamison. Mr. Frazier, the owner of the third farm, will himself enjoy the benefits of the convenience.

VON BERNSTORFF SEES LANSING

United States Asked to Act as Mediator.

THE OUTLOOK HOPEFUL

Substance Of Talk Is Sent To Wilson. Bernstorff Wires Report Of Conference To His Government.

Washington.—A confidential and friendly conference between Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and Secretary of State Lansing has done more, officials say, to bring about a friendly understanding between Germany and the United States than any of the previous steps in the diplomatic negotiations between the two countries.

The German Ambassador made his call at the State Department by the authority of the Imperial German Government.

No Comment From Lansing.

Secretary of State Lansing, although convinced of the importance of the representations of the German Ambassador, would make no comment on them.

It was ascertained, however, that this Government has been apprised that Germany desires the United States to open up immediately with Great Britain the all-important question of the freedom of the seas, in which President Wilson firmly believes. The German Government has advised the United States that it, too, stands for the principle and that the final discussion of the Lusitania case and disposition of that controversy should be inseparably connected with the greater question of the rights of all nations to the freedom of the seas.

Bearing On Lusitania.

It has been indicated to this Government that on the settlement of what is the freedom of the seas might depend how far Germany would go to make a complete, definite, unequivocal admission that her act of destroying the Lusitania was indefensible.

From the best available sources it is learned that Germany proposed that the United States endeavor to get Great Britain to discuss the German submarine policy in connection with Great Britain's blockade of neutral ports and the German foodstuffs question.

In other words, Germany has asked the United States to act as mediator. In doing this Count von Bernstorff merely amplified to the State Department the suggestions of the last German note to the United States.

Britain Must Be Party.

Germany, it is stated, is making the point that agreements between the United States and Germany could not make international law and that in order to get results of value in the present war England must be a party to the protocol, whether in written shape or oral agreement, between the Foreign Offices of Germany and the United States.

It is hinted that Germany would not be averse to modifying her views about the Lusitania and making the disavowal and granting the reparation suggested in President Wilson's first and second notes relating to the destruction of that vessel.

The substance of the negotiations between Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff have been sent to President Wilson, and the German Ambassador has sent a full report by wireless to Berlin.

GERMANY APOLOGIZES.

Takes Blame For Torpedoing the Steamer Nebraskan.

Washington. — Although officials were pleased by receipt of a memorandum from Ambassador Gerard formally transmitting Germany's admission of liability and expression of regret for the attaack by a German submarine on the American steamer Nebraskan, they practically decided that the legal points raised by the incident would require the dispatch of a note on the subject further to conserve American rights in the war zone.

Legal officers of the American Government who examined the German memorandum pointed out that in many respects the case resembled that of the William P. Frye, an American ship sunk by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

Apologized For the Frye.

In both cases the German Government has expressed regret at the occurrence and offered to compensate American citizens for losses sustained, but the action of the German commanders has been declared justified under the circumstances. To admit this, officials here say, would establish a dangerous precedent.

GEN. VON BUELOW PROMOTED.

GIGANTIC OPERATIONS

Dniester Crossed By Austrian Force. Austro-Germans Work In Concert To Squeeze Muskovites Out Of City.

London. — The Austro - German armies, which now appear to be working in perfect concert as the result of the German organization, are giving the Russians little rest or time to reorganize themselves after their retreat from Galicia.

Simultaneously with the German effort to reach Warsaw, or the Russian lines serving that fortress from the north, the Austrians have attacked along the Dniester and have succeeded in crossing that river at several points. General von Mackensen's army, which doubtless had been waiting for Field Marshal von Hindenburg to move in the north, has also come to life again and the fighting has been resumed in Southern Poland. In fact, there is fighting of more or less severity all along the Russian front, except in Central Poland, where the Russians are in such strong positions that, in the opinion of military men, it would be impossible to break through.

Campaign On Gigantic Scale.

The Germans claim to have made further progress with their northern operations, but with the Russians retiring it is not likely that the main forces have clashed as yet. The combined operations are the most gigantic yet undertaken, the aim being, according to military experts, to squeeze the Russians out of Warsaw and the great slice of country which they hold to the north, south and east of that city and at the same time to attempt an invasion of Bessarabia.

Reinforcemens have been sent to the German troops in the Russian provinces of Courland and Kovno, with the result that vigorous military operations have been resumed in that section. The Russians are offering a stubborn resistance and are holding strategic positions, according to an official statement issued at the headquarters of the General Staff in Petrograd and telegraphed to the Central News and Exchange Telegraph Company here.

NO ATTEMPT TO LYNCH FRANK.

Three Companies Of Militia Allowed To Return Home.

Atlanta, Ga.—Reports that a mob would attempt to take Leo M. Frank, serving a life sentence for Mary Phagan's murder, from the State prison farm, at Milledgeville, and lynch him, have not been confirmed by developments. Three companies of State militia, held in readiness at Macon throughout the night to proceed to Milledgeville to protect Frank, if necessary, were allowed to return to their homes.

NEGROES TO DIE FOR ASSAULT.

Blacks Who Attacked Widow and Daughter To Be Electrocuted.

Fredericksburg, Va.—John Lewis Rolins and George Matthews, negroes, were convicted in the Circuit Court of Caroline County of criminal assault on Mrs. Birnley Coleman and daughter, on July 11, and sentenced by Judge R. H. L. Chichester to die in the electric chair August 20. The men confessed.

THOUSANDS DIE IN FLOODS IN CHINA

Desolation in Three Devastated Provinces Terrible.

FIRES ADD TO THE HORRORS

Many American Missionaries In the Districts Affected, But None Reported Lost—Consul Anderson Asks For Aid.

Hong Kong.—Tens of thousands of natives are estimated to have been drowned by the floods in the Chinese Provinces of Kwantung, Kwangsi and Kiangsi, and the desolation in the devastated districts is terrible, according to the latest reports reaching here.

A fire-swept area of one mile and raging floods are handicapping the work of rescue in Canton.

Missionaries have arrived here seeking the assistance of the United States gunboat Callao to aid in the work of rescue. The last report received here from Canton before communication was cut said that the Christian Hospital was in danger from fire.

No Americans Lost.

Washington.—Consul General Anderson, at Hong Kong, reported that Canton was isolated except to powerful steamers. Thousands have been drowned and tens of thousands are taking refuge on high places. Thousands of houses have been burned. American mission property has either been damaged or destroyed and foreigners are taking refuge at the British consulate at Wuchow. No Americans have been lost so far as is known.

The State Department summarized its dispatches on the flood situation as follows:

"Canton is isolated except to powerful steamers. On Shameen (an island in Canton harbor), the foreign settlement is under 10 feet of water. Thousands have been drowned. Tens of thousands are taking refuge upon the house tops and other high places and are starving. Thousands of houses in Canton have burned. American mission property in the region between Canton, Kongmoon and Wuchow is either destroyed or badly damaged. All foreigners at Wuchow have taken refuge at the British consulate which is situated on a high bluff. So far as is known no American lives have been lost.

WILL DECLARE HOLT SUICIDE.

Coroner To Name Jump From Prison Tier As Means.

Mineola, N. Y.—After hearing the testimony of several witnesses, Coroner Walter E. Jones announced that he would render a verdict of suicide by jumping from a prison tier in the case of Erich Muenter, alias Frank Holt, who shot J. P. Morgan, exploded a bomb in the Capitol at Washington and intimated in a letter to his wife that he had placed a bomb on one or more ocean steamships.

A belief that Muenter might have shot himself, based upon a statement of Jeremiah O'Ryan, his keeper, was responsible for the extended inquiry conducted by the coroner.

AN EXCESS CROP OF COFFEE.

Brazil Has Provided a New Valorization Scheme.

New York.—Confirmation of reports that the Brazilian government was about to provide a new valorization scheme to take care of its excess crop of coffee was received in a cablegram which stated that the Brazilian Congress had passed a bill appropriating 300,000 contos (about $75,000,000) for the purpose. The cablegram follows: "The bill has passed Brazilian Congress providing for issue 300,000 contos, of which 150,000 will be loaned in Sao Paulo to purchase up to 400,000 bags of coffee from the present crop."

JURY DECLARES THAW IS SANE

Stanford White's Slayer Wins Victory After Long Trial.

JUBILANT OVER THE VICTORY

Jury Was Out Forty-Eight Minutes and Took Two Ballots—Precautions Taken To Prevent Demonstration In Court.

New York.—Harry Kendall Thaw was declared sane by a jury which for nearly three weeks listened to testimony given in the Supreme Court here before Justice Peter Hendrick. Forty-eight minutes were consumed and two ballots were taken in reaching a verdict.

It was at the end of a day of addresses by counsel and the charge of the Justice that the jury retired. While the 12 men were deliberating the crowd in the courtroom and about the courthouse was augmented by scores of people, who believed that a verdict quickly would be found. Shortly before 4 o'clock a bailiff came from the juryroom and informed Justice Hendrick that a verdict had been reached. The doors immediately were locked and Justice Hendrick, ascending the bench, warned the spectators that any demonstration would be met with severe punishment. Then the jury came in. In reply to a question by the clerk of the court as to whether a verdict had been reached the foreman handed over a sheet of legal paper, which was passed to the Justice on the bench. Justice Hendrick read it and handed it back to the clerk.

"Gentlemen of the jury," said the clerk, "the question you have been asked is this: Is Harry K. Thaw now sane? Your answer is yes."

Despite the warning, several persons stood up in front of their seats. The courtroom hummed like a dynamo. Justice Hendrick and a dozen court attendants rapped for order.

U. S. SERVES NOTICE.

Will Not Allow British Orders Supersede International Law.

Washington.—Formal notice that the United States holds that the rights of Americans who have cases before British prize courts rest upon international law and not upon various British orders in council or municipal law, is given in a brief statement cabled to Ambassador Page and presented by him to the London Foreign Office.

Secretary Lansing explained that this communication was not to be confused with the general note now in preparation relating to contraband and interference with American commerce on the high seas. He said it was more in the nature of a legal caveat generally conserving the rights of citizens of the United States, whose cases are about to be tried in English prize courts.

Inasmuch as the prize courts have not yet ruled on any American cases and are believed to be about to do so, the statement from the United States signifies in effect that if there is a denial of justice, diplomatic protests will be entered based on the general principles of international law existing before the outbreak of the war.

The United States has in its formal notes given Great Britain, as well as Germany, general notice to this effect and the statement now sent draws particular attention to the prize court cases pending.

Offenders will be cited to appear before the police courts and military tribunals. Liquor dealers violating this order will be punished by a temporary suspension of their licenses on the first offense and the revocation of their license on the second offense.

New York Constitution Makers' Committee Unanimous.

Albany, N. Y. — By a virtually unanimous vote the bill of rights committee of the State Constitutional Convention decided against proposals to abolish the death penalty by constitutional amendment. The committee was equally divided on a proposal to permit juries, in first degree murder cases, to recommend life imprisonment without commutation or pardon except in the case of established innocence.

PATROL SYSTEM FOR STATE ROADS SOON

Daily Report and Constant Inspection Rule Under New Maintenance Plan.

Harrisburg.—State Highway Commissioner Cunningham announced that on August 1 the patrol system of maintenance would be established on State highway routes. Caretakers will be employed and each man will be assigned to a designated section of highway, for the maintenance and repair of which he will be held responsible. One hundred and ninety men will be placed on this patrol work at the start and the territory covered will extend through forty-six counties. These men will be paid at the rate of from fifteen to twenty cents an hour, depending upon the scale of wages for labor in their districts. This will mean an annual expenditure of $120,000 a year, which will figure down to a maintenance cost of $65 a mile a year for the State highway. When it is considered that maintenance charges heretofore have averaged one-half million dollars a year, the economy of the new system will be appreciated.

These patrolmen will be directly under the county superintendents. They will be required to make out a daily report of the number of hours they work and these reports will be collected by the county superintendents, who will make out payrolls for the patrolmen. As the county superintendents have been supplied with light roadsters, it will be possible for them to keep in close touch with these patrolmen on the State highways and to ascertain whether or not the work is being done properly.

Red Flag for Absentee.

Each patrolman will be supplied with tools and equipment necessary for his work and each one will have a small, red flag, which he will be required to place in a conspicuous position on the road when, for any reason, he is required to leave the roadside during working hours. Hence, either the presence of the patrolman at work or of his flag, indicating temporary absence, will be noticeable during the working hours.

Great care is being exercised in the selection of these patrolmen, and State Highway Commissioner Cunningham is determined to have none but sober, honest and industrious men in these responsible positions. If it is found that the patrolmen are neglecting their work instant dismissal will follow.

Daily Postal Report.

Daily report postal card must be mailed every evening to the superintendent.

When working on the road, caretaker must have flag, which will be provided, displayed at all times near where work is being performed.

When conditions require additional help, team hire, or material of any character, permission must be first secured from the superintendent.

All additional help and team hire must be carried on foreman's daily report form, together with regular payroll form, etc.

All bills for material, etc., in amounts less than $10, must be covered by superintendent's purchase order; larger amounts by requisition of superintendent and department purchase order.

Caretakers are to be paid an hourly rate, and full value in service will be exacted for every dollar expended.

Caretakers must be courteous and considerate of the interests of the public at all times, and conduct themselves in a manner becoming representatives of the Commonwealth.

THE CENTRE REPORTER--Supplement

CENTRE HALL, PA., THURSDAY, JULY 22nd, 1915.

$1,500,000 FROM AUTO LICENSES.

Amount Derived from That Source Three Times Greater Than in 1912.

The amount of money received by the state from the registration and licensing of automobiles and drivers in 1915 will be three times the total amount received from the same source in 1912.

The receipts of the automobile division of the state highway department for the first six months in 1915, the books for which were closed July 1st, show that $1,488,201 had been received. During the last few weeks the receipts of the automobile division have been averaging about $1,000 a day.

These receipts are the more remarkable when it is considered that on the first of July, 1912, the total receipts of the automobile division were $519,000. On the first of July, 1913, these receipts were $749,000; on the first of July, 1914, the $1,000,000 mark had been passed, the receipts showing $1,069,000. This figure for July 1 last year was passed early in April of the present year.

Naturally the receipts during the first two months of the year are the heaviest, but from February 1 to July 1 the tendency is steadily upwards in all the years. In January, 1912, $219,000 were received. In January of the present year the figures were $742,000, an increase of more than one-half million in a single month's figures.

Officials of the state highway department say that there is little likelihood of any let up in the receipts of the automobile division for the next two months. Under the registration law the one-half rate fees went into effect last week and as a result of this there will be probably a sharp increase in the number of registrations and licenses granted during the next month or six weeks. It is likely that the $1,500,000 mark will be passed within the next fortnight and according to information given at the department, it would seem probable that the total receipts for 1915 would approximate $1,750,000. The total receipts for 1914 were $1,184,646.50; the total receipts for 1913 were $841,012; the total receipts for 1912 were $597,708.

Think what it means on a sizzling hot day to simply shut the heat off as soon as the meal is cooked, but still have a stove that is ready for instant use when the next mealtime comes around.

The New Perfection Oil Cook Stove saves time, money and labor. It lights and regulates like a gas stove and, with the separate oven and fireless cooker, is equal to it in cooking power. You can broil, roast, bake, boil and fry; heat water for wash day and irons for ironing day—in fact, do anything any other stove will do. The combustion chimneys prevent all smoke and smell and the improved wick outlasts the ordinary kind. It will certainly pay you to go today and get acquainted with a New Perfection.

HIS LOVE STORY

By MARIE VAN VORST

COPYRIGHT BY THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

SYNOPSIS.

Le Comte de Sabron, captain of French cavalry, takes to his quarters to raise by hand a motherless Irish terrier pup, and names it Pitchoune. He dines with the Marquise d'Esclignac and meets Miss Julia Redmond, American heiress. He is ordered to Algiers but is not allowed to take servants or dogs. Miss Redmond takes care of Pitchoune, who, longing for his master, runs away from her. The marquise plans to marry Julia to the Duc de Tremont. Pitchoune follows Sabron to Algiers, dog and master meet, and Sabron gets permission to keep his dog with him. The Duc de Tremont finds the American heiress capricious. Sabron, wounded in an engagement, falls into the dry bed of a river and is watched over by Pitchoune. After a horrible night and day Pitchoune leaves him. Tremont takes Julia and the marquise to Algiers in his yacht but has doubts about Julia's Red Cross mission. After long search Julia gets trace of Sabron's whereabouts. Julia for the moment turns matchmaker in behalf of Tremont. Hammet Abou tells the Marquise where he thinks Sabron may be found. Tremont decides to go with Hammet Abou to find Sabron. Pitchoune finds a village, twelve hours journey away, and somehow makes Fatou Anni understand his master's desperate plight. Sabron is rescued by the village men but grows weaker without proper care.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Two Love Stories.

If it had not been for her absorbing thought of Sabron, Julia would have reveled in the desert and the new experiences. As it was, its charm and magic and the fact that he traveled over it helped her to endure the interval.

In the deep impenetrable silence she seemed to hear her future speak to her. She believed that it would either be a wonderfully happy one, or a hopelessly withered life.

"Julia, I cannot ride any farther!" exclaimed the comtesse.

She was an excellent horsewoman and had ridden all her life, but her riding of late had consisted of a canter in the Bois de Boulogne at noon, and it was sometimes hard to follow Julia's tireless gallops toward an ever-disappearing goal.

"Forgive me," said Miss Redmond, and brought her horse up to her friend's side.

It was the cool of the day, of the fourteenth day since Tremont had left Algiers and the seventh day of Julia's excursion. A fresh wind blew from the west, lifting their veils from their helmets and bringing the fragrance of the mimosa into whose scanty forest they had ridden. The sky paled toward sunset, and the evening star, second in glory only to the moon, hung over the west.

Although both women knew perfectly well the reason for this excursion and its importance, not one word had been spoken between them of Sabron and Tremont other than a natural interest and anxiety.

They might have been two hospital nurses awaiting their patients.

They halted their horses, looking over toward the western horizon and its mystery. "The star shines over their caravan," mused Madame de la Maine (Julia had not thought Therese poetical), "as though to lead them home."

Madame de la Maine turned her face and Julia saw tears in her eyes. The Frenchwoman's control was usually perfect, she treated most things with mocking gayety. The bright softness of her eyes touched Julia.

"Therese!" exclaimed the American girl. "It is only fourteen days!"

Madame de la Maine laughed. There was a break in her voice. "Only fourteen days," she repeated, "and any one of those days may mean death!"

She threw back her head, touched her stallion, and flew away like light, and it was Julia who first drew rein.

"Therese! Therese! We cannot go any farther!"

"Lady!" said Azrael. He drew his big black horse up beside them. "We must go back to the tents."

Madame de la Maine pointed with her whip toward the horizon. "It is cruel! It ever recedes!"

* * * * * * *

"Tell me, Julia, of Monsieur de Sabron," asked Madame de la Maine abruptly.

"There is nothing to tell, Therese."

"You don't trust me?"

"Do you think that, really?"

In the tent where Azrael served them their meal, under the ceiling of Turkish red with its Arabic characters in clear white, Julia and Madame de la Maine sat while their coffee was served them by a Syrian servant.

"A girl does not come into the Sahara and watch like a sentinel, does not suffer as you have suffered, ma chere, without there being something to tell."

"It is true," said Miss Redmond, "and would you be with me, Therese, if I did not trust you? And what do you want me to tell?" she added naively.

The comtesse laughed.

"Vous etes charmante, Julia!"

"I met Monsieur de Sabron," said Julia slowly, "not many months ago in Tarascon. I saw him several times, and then he went away."

"And then?" urged Madame de la Maine eagerly.

"He left his little dog, Pitchoune, with me, and Pitchoune ran after his master, to Marseilles, flinging himself into the water, and was rescued by the sailors. I wrote about it to Monsieur de Sabron, and he answered me from the desert, the night before he went into battle."

"And that's all?" urged Madame de la Maine.

"That's all," said Miss Redmond. She drank her coffee.

"You tell a love story very badly, ma chere."

"Is it a love story?"

"Have you come to Africa for charity? Voyons!"

Julia was silent. A great reserve seemed to seize her heart, to stifle her as the poverty of her love story struck her. She sat turning her coffee-spoon between her fingers, her eyes downcast. She had very little to tell. She might never have any more to tell. Yet this was her love story. But the presence of Sabron was so real, and she saw his eyes clearly looking upon her as she had seen them often; heard the sound of his voice that meant but one thing—and the words of his letter came back to her. She remembered her letter to him, rescued from the field where he had fallen. She raised her eyes to the Comtesse de la Maine, and there was an appeal in them.

The Frenchwoman leaned over and kissed Julia. She asked nothing more. She had not learned her lessons in discretion to no purpose.

At night they sat out in the moonlight, white as day, and the radiance over the sands was like the snowflowers. Wrapped in their warm coverings, Julia and Therese de la Maine lay on the rugs before the door of their tent, and above their heads shone the stars so low that it seemed as though their hands could snatch them from the sky. At a little distance their servants sat around the dying fire, and there came to them the plaintive song of Azrael, as he led their singing:

And who can give again the love of yesterday?
Can a whirlwind replace the sand after it is scattered?
What can heal the heart that Allah has smitten?
Can the mirage form again when there are no eyes to see?

"I was married," said Madame de la Maine, "when I was sixteen."

Julia drew a little nearer and smiled to herself in the shadow.

This would be a real love story.

"I had just come out of the convent. We lived in an old chateau, older than the history of your country, ma chere, and I had no dot. Robert de Tremont and I used to play together in the allees of the park, on the terrace. When his mother brought him over when she called on my grandmother, he teased me horribly because the weeds grew between the stones of our terrace. He was very rude.

"Throughout our childhood, until I was sixteen, we teased each other and fought and quarreled."

"This is not a love-affair, Therese," said Miss Redmond.

"There are all kinds, ma chere, as there are all temperaments," said Madame de la Maine. "At Assumption—that is our great feast, Julia—the Feast of Mary—it comes in August—at Assumption, Monsieur de la Maine came to talk with my grandmother. He was forty years old, and bald—Bob and I made fun of his few hairs, like the children in the Holy Bible."

Julia put out her hand and took the hand of Madame de la Maine gently. She was getting so far from a love affair.

"I married Monsieur de la Maine in six weeks," said Therese.

"Oh," breathed Miss Redmond, "horrible!"

Madame de la Maine pressed Julia's hand.

"When it was decided between my grandmother and the comte, I escaped at night, after they thought I had gone to bed, and I went down to the lower terrace where the weeds grew in plenty, and told Robert. Somehow, I did not expect him to make fun, although we always joked about everything until this night. It was after nine o'clock."

The comtesse swept one hand toward the desert. "A moon like this—only not like this—ma chere. There was never but that moon to me for many years.

"I thought at first that Bob would kill me—he grew so white and terrible. He seemed suddenly to have aged ten years. I will never forget his cry as it rang out in the night. 'You will marry that old man when we love each other?' I had never known it until then.

"We were only children, but he grew suddenly old. I knew it then," said Madame de la Maine intensely, "I knew it then."

She waited for a long time. Over the face of the desert there seemed to be nothing but one veil of light. The silence grew so intense, so deep; the Arabs had stopped singing, but the heart fairly echoed, and Julia grew meditative—before her eyes the caravan she waited for seemed to come out of the moonlit mist, rocking, rocking—the camels and the huddled figures of the riders, their shadows cast upon the sand.

And now Tremont would be forever changed in her mind. A man who had suffered from his youth, a warm-hearted boy, defrauded of his early love. It seemed to her that he was a charming figure to lead Sabron.

"Therese," she murmured, "won't you tell me?"

"They thought I had gone to bed," said the Comtesse de la Maine, "and I went back to my room by a little staircase, seldom used, and I found myself alone, and I knew what life was and what it meant to be poor."

"But," interrupted Julia, horrified, "girls are not sold in the twentieth century."

"They are sometimes in France, my dear. Robert was only seventeen. His father laughed at him, threatened to send him to South America. We were victims."

"It was the harvest moon," continued Madame de la Maine gently, "and it shone on us every night until my wedding day. Then the duke kept his threat and sent Robert out of France. He continued his studies in England and went into the army of Africa."

There was a silence again.

"I did not see him until last year," said Madame de la Maine, "after my husband died."

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Meeting.

Under the sun, under the starry nights Tremont, with his burden, journeyed toward the north. The halts were distasteful to him, and although he was forced to rest he would rather have been cursed with sleeplessness and have journeyed on and on. He rode his camel like a Bedouin; he grew brown like the Bedouins and under the hot breezes, swaying on his desert ship, he sank into dreamy, moody and melancholy reveries, like the wandering men of the Sahara, and felt himself part of the desolation, as they were.

"What will be, will be!" Hammet Abou said to him a hundred times, and Tremont wondered: "Will Charles live to see Algiers?"

Sabron journeyed in a litter carried between six mules, and they traveled slowly, slowly. Tremont rode by the sick man's side day after day. Not once did the soldier for any length of time regain his reason. He would pass from coma to delirium, and many times Tremont thought he had ceased to breathe. Slender, emaciated under his covers, Sabron lay like the image of a soldier in wax—a wounded man carried as a votive offering to the altars of desert warfare.

Things That Have Been Condemned.

If we banished from our tables all the commodities which—like potatoes—have been condemned in print our diet would be decidedly monotonous. "Food faddists are most aggressive persons," Henry Labouchere once complained. "In my time I have known them preach that we should give up meat, tobacco, alcohol, soup, starch (including bread and potatoes), salt, tomatoes, bananas, strawberries and bath buns. I have also witnessed movements for giving up boots, waistcoats, hats, overcoats, carpets, feather beds, spring mattresses, cold baths, linen clothes, woolen clothes, sleeping more than six hours, sleeping less than nine hours and lighting fires at the bottom."

Some Lost Motion.

A Philadelphia mathematician has figured it out that the telephone companies lose 125 hours' work every day through the use of the word "please" by all operators and patrons. Another has discovered that the froth on the beer pays the freight. But as yet no one has estimated the total horse power wasted in swallowing cigarette smoke and forcing it through the nose instead of blowing it from the mouth. —Newark News.

Scandinavian Housekeeping.

In Scandinavia the peasant women who worked all day in the fields, have had their fireless methods of cooking for a long time. While breakfast was cooking, the pot containing the stew for dinner was brought to a boil then placed inside a second pot, and the whole snugly ensconced between the feather beds, still warm from the night's occupancy. Some of these women had a loosened hearthstone and a hole beneath.

IN MUSLINS AND SILKS

PARISIENNES TURN TO DELICATE MATERIALS FOR RELIEF.

War Has Brought So Much Nursing and Needlework That Dainty Garments for Hours of Leisure Are Imperative.

We are becoming more and more infatuated with the delicate muslins and simple silks. A sort of reaction has set in. We have to occupy ourselves so much with nursing and needlework that it seems a relief to clothe our persons in dainty and lovely garments when we take a few hours' holiday, though it should not be said that a charity fete comes under the heading "holiday." These gigantic fetes call for an immense amount of hard work, and on the day itself one never finds a quiet moment, writes Idalia de Villiers, Paris correspondent of the Boston Globe.

A dress which attracted my attention at the Ritz was made of black mousseline de soie bordered with black chiffon velvet and mounted over a plaited slip made of ivory white crepe de chine. This seemed to be a one-piece frock.

It is hung straight from the shoulders, and was confined at the waist by a ceinture of velvet. There was a picturesque coat in fine black chantilly and the bodice opened over a lovely little blouse made of flesh-pink chiffon and fine lace.

The lace sleeves of the coatee were semitransparent; that is to say, they were drawn on over the flesh-pink blouse. They were bishop in design and banded in at the wrists with bands of black velvet.

A flat-brimmed hat made of black chip was worn with this gown. There was a lining of dull blue mirror velvet and round the high crown a fold of chantilly, caught in by a handsome paste buckle in front.

Another coat and skirt, in Joffre-blue linen, had raised embroideries carried out in japonica-pink, blue, black and white washing silks. There were wide revers on the coat and a high turnover collar, as well as deep gauntlet cuffs. All these were covered with embroidery.

I spoke in a recent article of the popularity of white linen suits enriched with open-work embroidery in the English style. Some of these dresses are veritable works of art, the skirts being worked in complicated designs almost to the knees, and the coats worked all over. It is rather the fashion to mount skirts of this order over pale-colored slips, heliotropes, or pale pastel blue.

This is a revival of an old fashion, and when subtle colors are chosen for the slips the result is excellent; nothing, however, could be more objectionable than an embroidered dress worn over a crude and ordinary shade of pink or blue.

Paquin has some fascinating summer mantles made of soft white linen which are lined with printed silk and trimmed on sleeves and cuffs with ermine. These mantles are charming when worn in conjunction with lace or muslin gowns. The touch of white fur makes the garment look picturesque and unexpected.

CHILD'S DRESS

Of striped blue taffeta with a wide satin girdle. The dress in made with the new smocking stitch, trimmed with four rows of shadow lace gathered around the neck with sleeves of the same material.

FOR THE THROAT AND NECK

Collars of Dutch and Eton Style In Order—Colored Boas Give Softening Effect to the Face.

Dutch and eton style collars in laundered and semilaundered designs are worn with silk or crepe windsor ties. Dainty ribbon and flowered garnitures are used on dressy designs of embroidery and lace, which are always V-shaped. Flaring collars and cuffs of black patent leather lined with white pique are smart for a tailored suit. Ribbons of the regimental stripe order are worn with the above and other neckwear sets.

Collar and cuff sets of colored handkerchief linen are worn with tailored suits and sport attire. Malines ruffs in black and white are popular. Short and long ostrich boas are in royal and navy blue, taupe, loam brown, silver gray, white, black and white and black. They are neck size, or to the knees, with ribbon bows or tassels on the ends. They are very softening to the face.

Lace Curtains Renewed.

To do up lace or net curtains and have them the same color as when new: When the starch has boiled and is still hot or boiling put yellow ocher in and stir it all through until you have the shade you want your curtains. Five cents' worth of ocher in the powder will be sufficient for a large number of curtains.

CUT FLOWERS IN THE HOUSE

Most Effective Form of Decoration, to Which Too Little Attention Is Usually Given.

No feature of household decoration can do more to render a room attractive than the use of flowers. But the proper arrangement of flowers is an art, demanding study. The Japanese spend years in acquiring this art; but the average person gives to the arrangement of cut flowers no more thought than is given to the most unesthetic of household tasks.

In the first place most people err in the matter of vases. A vase should be considered always in connection with flowers—not as an object of art by itself. Vases of distinctive colors should be used carefully; a neutral tint, green or glass vases are safest.

If you have vases of very positive shades use them only for flowers with which they will harmonize. Yellow pottery, for example, is lovely if filled with yellow flowers or with a combination of blue and yellow flowers. Low yellow or purple bowls filled with pansies are a delight to the eye. A gray ginger jar filled with dusty miller and sweet alyssum is a thing of beauty; the shimmering silver gray of the foliage and the white of the blossoms harmonize perfectly with the soft-gray jar.

Another common mistake in arranging flowers is to overcrowd the vase. Never bunch flowers. Each should be put in the water separately to insure a good effect. A long strip of lead coiled to fit the bottom of vases is the best device for keeping flowers upright. It is not so expensive as the china or wire arrangements that can be purchased for the same purpose, and it has the further advantage of being easily squeezed into a vase of any size.

A pretty device for flowers is the Aaron's rod to hang on the wall. This is merely a stick of bamboo with holes cut between the joints. Water is poured into each opening, and the flowers then set in. Trailing vines—clematic, honeysuckle, etc.—are exceedingly pretty in an Aaron's rod.

Hanging vases for the windows and corners of the room are very attractive, and are to be had in good colors and lines at small cost.

PROTECTION IN BAD WEATHER

The vacation girl will find the rubber rain smocks very convenient things, not only for the rainy day, but for use in clear weather on such occasions as she goes boating, fishing, motoring or golfing. It is suggested that everyone who owns a motor car should provide himself or herself with two or three of these handy garments for guests.

They are made of dull black leather in fairly light weight and are long and full skirted. The double panel of the front has snap fastening and the collar fastens close under the chin, while the wrists are drawn in with elastics to insure absolute protection. These smocks are done up in individual rubber bags.

Fashion's Whims.

Dimity and flowered organdie are very fashionable, and lavender, the color of colors in prim victorian days, is very much preferred.

MIRTH.

Cheerfulness Helps in Preventing Illness, Says Commissioner of Health, Therefore Cultivate It.

"Frame your mind to mirth and merriment * *
Which bar a thousand harms and lengthens Life."

Lycurgus decreed that statues of the God of Mirth should be set up in the halls where the citizens of Sparta ate.

Men of all ages have appreciated the value of a cheerful disposition. The cultivation of cheerfulness even in the face of misfortune and disaster unquestionably helps to prevent illness. On the other hand those who always take a somber view of life are so distressed by misfortunes when they come, that there is often danger of physical impairment.

The nervous system in the human body is so delicately adjusted that a comparatively slight disturbance may seriously disturb certain of the bodily functions. While it might be at times difficult for the most skillful diagnostician to trace the exact connection between mental depression and a physical illness, the fact that they are often intimately related is well known.

Habits of mind like habits of body can be cultivated through persistent effort. Cheerfulness is one which will not only prove a distinct benefit to its possessor but serve to stimulate and encourage those with whom he comes in contact.

Melancholia and similar serious disturbances may be brought about by permitting the mind to brood over real or fancied troubles and if indulged in the line of demarcation between the two becomes more and more indistinct.

Therefore, though you do not set up the statue of the God of Mirth in your house bear ever in mind that "the light heart lives long."

15,000 Cattle Killed in Disease.

More than 15,000 head of cattle and more than 13,000 hogs were slaughtered during the winter by the State Live Stock Sanitary agents in stamping out the foot and mouth disease. The cost to the State and national government was estimated as being $1,300,000. This does not take into account the losses suffered by the owners of the slaughtered stock.

Where the State's Wealth Lies.

Pennsylvania is known throughout the nation as a manufacturing state, some taking little account of her vast agricultural resources, for her farms, truck gardens, dairy products and stock breeding are of great importance and the total amount of revenue derived from these sources is considerable. Great interest is being manifested these days in the products of the farm and dairy. This is seen on every side and especially in the number of boys who are taking up the various courses in agriculture offered by the Pennsylvania State College. The enrollment in this department alone was over 1,200 last school year, 600 more than the entire college enrollment eight years ago.

The vocation is calling the best men as it has been found to be not only the healthiest but the most remunerative occupation for the average man. It was not in the great long ago when a farmer was a "hayseed" and the business of farming as being very poor.

That day has passed and all on account of the extraordinary opportunities offered the thoughtful and far sighted individual by the agricultural schools. Today the gardener and general farmer are numbered among the most prosperous in this state. The farm or dairy is an educational institution and the man who invests his earnings in productive land need have no fear that it will fade away or that his hard earned dollars will take wings and fly to parts unknown or line the pockets of those who delight to prey upon their unsuspecting dupes.

If a tract of ground is properly worked it will bring to the owner or laborer a large return for the amount of money expended for seed and for the labor incident to the planting and gathering of the harvest, which is usually abundant. The farmer and the farm is one of the state's most valuable assets.

The world famous Ben Greet players will present two of Shakespear's plays in the open air theatre, on the front campus, at State College, Saturday, July 31st. At the matinee in the afternoon "Taming of the Shrew" will be presented, and in the evening "Twelfth Night." In case of rain the performance will be given in the Auditorium. Prices 50c and 75c.

NEWS OF 1881.

Notes Taken From Files of The Centre Reporter of Thirty-four Years Ago.

September 22nd—Potatoes are selling at $1 to $1.25. The crop will be less than ever known in this county.

On Tuesday night of last week, about nine o'clock, a brilliant meteor was noticed passing north-eastward over our country and some say they noticed its explosion. A rumbling noise was heard some minutes after it was seen. The meteor was "as a big pot" and lit up all around. It was seen at Centre Hall, Aaronsburg and Bellefonte.

Daniel Keller of Nora, Ill., called in to see the Reporter the other day. Mr. Keller formerly lived in this neighborhood and attended school in the old school house on the lot where the Centre Hall hotel now stands. He is an uncle of our townsman and candidate for county treasurer, D. C. Keller. Mr. Keller left Centre county in 1847.

The Granger's picnic on the mountain near Centre Hall, on Thursday, 15th, was a success. Streams of wagons and buggies kept pouring in our town from morning until noon. The crowd on the mountain may have been from 5,000 to 8,000. Three brass bands were present, from Zion, Lemont and Pine Hall.

September 29th—Brush Valley has an abundance of apples.

The corner stone of the new Lutheran church at Millheim will be laid on Sunday, October 16th, with appropriate ceremonies.

Our landlord Meyer and wife, have gone on a few weeks' visit to the western part of the state. The hotel, however, was left in good hands and goes on.

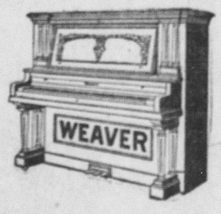
Weaver Piano in Use at Gettysburg College.



"The piano furnished our Druids Society in 1904 is giving excellent satisfaction. Everyone, capable of judging, who has tried it has been very much pleased with the piano. Thus far all of us have nothing but commendation to express as regards the Weaver Piano. I have had experts examine the instrument and all have been unanimous in their expressions of approval. I can and will heartily recommend it.

Yours truly,
Prof. C. C. Storrick,
Gettysburg, Pa.

The Weaver Piano has a living, growing reputation that outshines many of the former leaders. It has no superior in the piano world for durability and sweetness of tone,

WHY DO WEAVER PIANOS PLEASE?

Because the Weaver Organ & Piano Co., of York, Pa., have been building pianos and organs for 45 years and have never manufactured any instruments except a good one. Their whole ambition has been to conduct a business that would grow a little higher in the respect of the public each year. Their present position as manufacturers of the Weaver—the highest standard of Piano quality so far attained—is due to that ambition.

You wouldn't be surprised that Weaver Pianos last a lifetime if you knew the men, methods and materials on which their reputation is based. Weaver Pianos are used and endorsed by many of the world's leading musicians, including Alice Nielsen, Mme. Homer, Victor Herbert, Frank La Forge, Frank Croxton and many others.

The Weaver Co. also make and sell the Charming Toned York Piano the popular Livingston Piano, and the celebrated Weaver Organ.

CUNARD LINER ESCAPES TORPEDO

Carried 227 Passengers, Including 22 Americans.

ATTACK NEAR LIVERPOOL

Only Speed Saves Big British Boat. Washington Surprised By Indication Of Reversal Of German Policy.

New York. — The Cunard liner Orduna bound from Liverpool to New York with 227 passengers, including 22 Americans, was attacked without warning, it was learned on her arrival here, by a German submarine on the morning of July 9.

Twenty miles from the graveyard of the Lusitania, off Old Head of Kinsale, the Orduna escaped the Lusitania's fate by one half a second of time or 10 feet of space, the German torpedo churning the water that distance behind the liner's rudder. Then the Orduna sped away. She was followed by the submarine, which rose to the surface, manned a gun on her deck and shelled the fleeing steamer.

The attack was at 10 minutes to 6 o'clock in the morning, when all but a few of her passengers lay sleeping in their berths. Aroused by stewards, the passengers dressed hurriedly and went to the upper deck, where they put on life belts and took their places at the life boats. They heard the scream of the shells and saw the ocean throw up columns of water where the shells struck. When the fire grew hot the passengers were ordered for their own protection to the next deck below.

Chased Half Hour.

For half an hour the Orduna showed her heels to the assailant. Through marine glasses the passengers watched the dark splotch on the water's surface astern. They saw the low-lying German warship coming on, but the Orduna's flight was faster than the pursuit, and after seven shots had been fired, without effect, the submarine gave up the chase.

A wireless call for help was sent out by the Orduna when the torpedo was seen. She was then 37 miles south of Queenstown. The reply, Captain Taylor says in his official report, was that help would be given within an hour. It was four hours before the first British vessel, a small armored yacht, the Jeannette, appeared.

LEO FRANK HAS CHANCE.

Physicians Succeed In Stopping Flow Of Blood From Wound.

Milledgeville, Ga.—Leo M. Frank is in the Georgia State Prison hospital with what attendants said was a fighting chance for recovery. Physicians had succeeded in stopping the flow of blood from a jagged wound in his throat made with a butcher knife in the hands of Williams Creen, a fellow-convict, also serving a life term for murder. The blow was struck as Frank slept in his bunk in a dormitory.

An investigation of the attack probably will be conducted by the Georgia Prison Commission, the same body that refused to recommend that Frank's death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan be commuted to life imprisonment. Reports from Atlanta were that Governor Harris intimated he would start such an investigation to ascertain if Creen acted entirely of his own volition.

Creen said, when taken from solitary confinement long enough to be questioned, that, he planned the attack alone and that no one knew what he intended to do.

$5,000,000,000 FROM FARMS.

Agricultural Department Gives International Trade Figures.

Washington.—The farmer's part in international commerce approximates $5,000,000,000 annually. Statistics just issued by the Department of Agriculture give the following estimates of the value of principal farm products carried in international trade; that is, the total exports from all countries or imports into all countries:

Sharon, Pa.—Crude benzol is now being manufactured by the United States Steel Corporation at its plant at Farrell, near here, and within 30 days, it was said, the benzol will be refined and other by-products will be placed on the market. This is the first of the corporation's plants to make benzol.

TINKER COULDN'T FOOL BENTON, OH, NO!

Rube Benton, the Cincinnati southpaw, didn't know any too much about the art of pitching when he made his major league debut a couple of seasons ago. Cincinnati and Chicago were playing, and Benton was pitching. Joe Tinker, who was then playing short with the Cubs, walked, and then proceeded to have some fun with the Rube. He took a long lead off first. Benton turned around and grinned, but he made no attempt to catch him. Tinker walked to second. Joe bluffed a steal to third and when Benton made no move to stop him walked to that base.

Manager Griffith was raving by this time. Tinker took another look at the grinning Rube, and then made a break for home. Tinker scored standing up.

"What's the matter with you? What in the blankety-blank were you doing out there?" cried Griffith when Benton came in from the field.

Benton smiled the happy smile of a child that had just been presented with a six-foot sugar cane.

"Oh, they can't fool me," he replied. "That man Tinker thought he was going to play a smart trick with me. He thought I was green and tried to make me throw the ball but I fooled him."

There's no record of how long Griffith's fainting spell lasted.

MARTY M'HALE HAS IMPROVED

Manager Donovan Has Great Faith in Former Red Sox Pitcher—Wins His Share of Games.

Marty McHale is a wonderfully improved pitcher for the Yanks. Although Marty generally is regarded as a hot weather pitcher and seldom has struck his gait until July, he has been in fine shape this year and has won his share of games for Manager Donovan.

Donovan tells his friends that he has great faith in Marty and says that he will prove one of the most valued members of his pitching staff.

McHale was with the Boston Red Sox when they won the pennant and world's championship, and it may be that he will be with another world's championship team this year.

Warhop Makes Protest.

And now comes Jack Warhop with a protest on the high pitching mound at the polo grounds. Batsmen have been complaining against the extreme height of the slab firing line, but Warhop is the first pitcher to record a kick. When it is considered, however, that the Yank used an underhand ball it can be readily seen that too much elevation would prove a detriment to control and effectiveness. As a rule the pitcher draws the benefits from a high mound, so far as general opinions are concerned.

Browns Want Pitcher.

President Hedges of the St. Louis Browns made an offer to the Washington club for a pitcher during the week, but Manager Griffith would consider nothing in exchange but Second Baseman Pratt, and this Manager Rickey would not do, so the deal fell through.

Safety First.

Eddie Collins thinks golf doesn't injure the batting eye, but intends taking no more chances this season. He always believes in playing safe.

CAN'T BE NEUTRAL

Otto Knabe has sprung a new one on the umpires. The rules of the Federal league require that the managers of teams shall furnish the batting order and batteries of their teams five minutes before game time. The managers usually strive to outthink each other and conceal the identity of their pitchers up to the last minute, and Knabe writes his batting order out in German, so as to give the umpires pause in reading it. Bill Corrigan ought to write his in Gaelic.

"LEMONS COME HIGH"

Willie Doak of St. Louis, Bears Out Baseball Adage.

Cardinal Pitcher Is as Valuable a Mound Man as There Is in National League—Fine Start to Better 1914 Record.

Willie Doak of the Cardinals is one of many athletes who bear out the truth of that baseball adage, "Lemons come high."

Not that Willie is a lemon. On the contrary, he went to the front rank of National league pitchers in the short space of one season, but the interesting part of it is that all he cost the St. Louis club was the effort to sign him.

Right today Doak is as valuable a mound man as there is in the National league. That he can pitch is known to every man in the circuit. He has no favorites, and whenever he suffers a trimming the opposing pitcher or pitchers and the rest of the team deserve all they get. They have to work for it.

Doak is a "spitball" pitcher with an assortment of other stuff. Control, coupled with the salivated slant, is his most valuable asset, but the question is whether or not he will last as long as the lads who stick to curves and speed. Ed Walsh of the Sox, and possibly Larry Cheney of the Cubs stand as regrettable examples of what the "spitter" will do to an arm of iron.

Doak came to the Cardinals for car fare after the Interstate league blew up in 1913. He fiddled around in the fall in a few games and clearly demonstrated he was a lad of marked ability. The next spring he blossomed forth over one team after another.

Willie Doak.

In 1914 this same youngster broke into 36 games. He won 19 and lost 6, and had the best percentage on earned runs per game, his mark being 1.72 runs for each nine innings he pitched. Bill James of the Braves was his closest rival, the Hubtown right-hander finishing with a 1.90 average. The earned runs charged against Doak numbered 49.

The young Cardinal star hurled seven shutouts last year. Twice he whitewashed the Cubs, once 2 to 0 and again 6 to 0. He captured a duel from Alexander of the Phillies by 1 to 0, and trimmed Marquard and Demaree of the Giants by the same count. He made the Dodgers his victims in one start by 4 to 0, and in his other two shutouts vanquished the Pirates by 1 to 0 and 3 to 6, the former being with Cooper on the hill for Clarke's men.

Playing Fast Ball.

According to a Central league correspondent, the league is playing a much faster article of ball than ever before. Dayton, last year's pennant winner, looks as good this year as it did last, and yet it has not been able to keep the pace with the other teams and is on the bottom.

Won't Transfer Franchise.

While it is admitted that attendance at Fort Wayne has not been what was expected, it is denied that there is any truth in the report that the franchise and team might be shifted to Canton.

Another Johnson in Game.

The Giants will put another Johnson in the big show in the person of a pitcher from the Massachusetts agricultural college. His first name is Arthur.

BE KINDER TO YOURSELF

Women Are Often Victims of Nervousness Because They Don't Know How to Relax.

One of the important things to know in life, especially if you are a woman, is how to let yourself alone, writes Mary Carolyn Davies in the Mother's Magazine. The ability to relax, the art of being judiciously lazy, the tact to let herself alone has saved many a woman from a nervous breakdown. We all know the housewife who nags herself into such a state of conscientiousness that she cannot rest. If she lies down she is continually worrying herself with thoughts of the work that she is neglecting.

Much of the blame for this state of affairs lies at the doors of the mothers. The mistake is in their training of their children, especially their daughters. They are taught from earliest infancy to be kind to others, to bear with them, to forgive them, to help them; but from birth to death no one ever tells them to be kind, also, to themselves.

The woman who nags herself can make herself more miserable than anyone else possibly could. She can make her life more of a nightmare than any misfortune could possibly make it. If such women could learn to be kinder to themselves there is no doubt that their own lives would be lengthened; and not only that, but the lives of those with whom they come in close contact would be made far more pleasant.

Deserves It.

"Heavens! The mob will tear that man to pieces! Can't something be done to stop them?"

"Let 'em alone. The man they're trying to lynch is the chap who invented the installment plan of selling books."

Revised.

"Is that futurist music you're playing?" inquired hubby as his wife pumped the pianola.

"No, dear; it's 'Home, Sweet Home,' but I think Bobby has been using it as a target for his air rifle."

Same Old Symptoms.

Hyker—What do you consider the one unfailing sign of spring?

Pyker—The delicious feeling which makes you want to sit down and watch other people work.

Hopeless.

Maud—I said to Jack that I wasn't going to return his ring until I got one from another man.

Ethel—He told me he never expected to get it back.

We would get more enjoyment out of our money if it took us as long to spend it as it does to earn it.

Health and Excitement.

The sick rate in Russia has decreased since the war began. Part of the improvement—doubtless the greater part—is due to the passing of vodka, but something must be said for the curious way in which the human frame reacts to excitement and develops resistance to disease under the stimulus of strong interests or emotions.

The refugees from San Francisco, for example, had not been devotees of vodka, but they showed a wonderful health record during their period of enforced open-air life and short commons.

Sure Thing.

Hostess—No, but they carry tails.—Philadelphia Record.

No Time.

"Isn't it strange that Mrs. Robinson never attends the Mothers' club meetings. We've invited her time and again."

"He got run over when he stopped to read a 'Safety First' sign."

TEST THAT NEVER FAILED

Mine Foreman Had Particular Reason for Patronizing Sawyer's Place on His "Vacation."

Among the old miners of Sisikyou county a man can get worse whisky at Sawyer's bar than in any other place on earth. This is the belief of the gold-diggers of that section, and that faith is accepted as orthodox, says the San Francisco Call.

Regularly every Christmas Billy X, foreman of the Oro Fino mine, takes his layoff down at Sawyer's. Once the superintendent asked him why he always selected that place for his vacation.

"I want to have one yearly drunk," said Billy, "and I want to know just when I am drunk, so that I may enjoy the sensation."

"Well, can't you enjoy the sensation in any other portion of the county or state or continent?" asked the superintendent.

"No. When I'm drinking Sawyer's whisky and it begins to taste good, then I know I'm drunk."

Life in London.

On the day after the visit of the German Zeppelins there occurred in Southwark—so a wireless message from Berlin asserts—the following conversation:

"Betsy," whispered Mr. James, leading his wife into the darkest corner of the cellar, "here is a wallet. You will find in it all our valuable papers, the stocks and bonds, my will, my insurance policies, and the lock of baby's hair cut off on his first birthday. Good-by; Betsy. If I fail to return, bring up our children to be good English men and women."

"Oh, James, dear, you are not going on a dangerous journey, are you?"

"Yes, dearest. I must go up to the first floor."—New York Evening Post.

Insulted the Mayor.

A company had opened a new swimming bath in the place, and as a compliment sent a free ticket to the mayor.

That worthy man was very pleased. But he began to wonder when another ticket arrived.

"Gentlemen: Your first ticket I received as a compliment. Your second strikes me as being rather suggestive. If you send me a third I will take it as a personal insult."

BUILT A MONUMENT

The Best Sort in the World.

"A monument built by and from Postum," is the way an Illinois man describes himself. He says:

"For years I was a coffee drinker until at last I became a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia, constipation, headaches and indigestion.

"The different kinds of medicine I tried did not cure me, and finally some one told me to leave off coffee and take up Postum. I was fortunate in having the Postum made strictly according to directions on the pkg., so that from the start I liked it.

"Gradually my condition changed. The old troubles disappeared and I began to feel well again. My appetite became good and I could digest food. Now I am restored to strength and health, can sleep sound all night and awake with a fresh and rested body.

"I am really a monument built by Postum, for I was a physical wreck, distressed in body and mind, and am now a strong, healthy man. I know exactly what made the change; it was leaving off coffee and using Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

CONTROL HOG CHOLERA

Some Facts Given in Waging War on the Dread Disease.

It Must Be Remembered That Serum Is Preventive, Not a Cure—Two Different Methods of Applying Are Described.

(By DR. K. W. STONDER, Iowa State College.)

Hog cholera serum is the only thing known which will prevent or control hog cholera.

Hog cholera serum is nothing more or less than the blood of hogs which have been immunized against hog cholera.

There are two methods of applying the serum, the single treatment and the serum-simultaneous. The first consists merely of injecting a quantity of serum proportionate to the weight of the hog. This gives an immunity lasting from three to six weeks. This method never hurts any hog, even if given in heavy overdoses.

The serum-simultaneous is the same as the single treatment with the addition of a small quantity of virus or blood containing the germs capable of producing cholera. This gives the hogs immunity for life, except pigs vaccinated before eight weeks old.

Some losses have been reported from the serum-simultaneous treatment. They are the faults of methods or materials rather than the treatment. Poor serum of low potency and untested is the chief factor in the failure of this treatment. Too low doses, or improper application of the serum are all causes of failure.

Records kept on 20,000 hogs show a loss of less than two per cent when treated by the simultaneous method. All were made immune, some for three years.

Here are the facts in waging war on hog cholera by the simultaneous treatment:

Hogs can be made immune.

If healthy when treated, and if reole, tested serum is employed together with good virus, there is no doubt that the serum simultaneous treatment is a success.

Hog cholera serum in any process will give good results on healthy hogs, and better than nothing on sick ones. It must be remembered that hog cholera serum is a preventive, not a cure.

When serum is to be used, first get all the pigs together in a pen so they may be caught easily. Too much exercise before injection is not good for the animal.

Injection may be on inner side of a rear leg or in armpit; either spot must be cleaned carefully, using first warm water and soap and following with alcohol or a three to five per cent solution of carbolic acid.

All vessels and instruments must be sterilized before use and the operator's hands should be cleaned, disinfected and kept so.

STANCHIONS FOR THE CALVES

Youngster Will Not Worry About Neighbor Getting Part of His Mess and Will Drink Slowly.

Harmful results are frequently brought on in young calves by their drinking milk too rapidly and too much at a time.

Feeding small quantities and often, which is the natural plan, is the way to avoid trouble from this source.

Where several calves run together stanchions for feeding may contribute to less rapid drinking, for with stanchions the calf is not worrying about one of its neighbors getting part of his mess and is thus encouraged to drink more slowly.

Distemper in Horses.

Strangles, or as it is commonly known, distemper, is a contagious and infectious disease seen most frequently in young animals. One attack generally produces an immunity which lasts for life, therefore is seldom seen in older animals.

TO KILL OFF GRASSHOPPERS

Burning Over Grass Lands Is Sometimes Practical—Poison Bran Mash Is Also Effective.

(By A. L. LOVETT, Oregon Experiment Station.)

Grasshoppers feed normally on the native grasses. Where forage crops are planted, the hoppers readily adapt themselves to the new food. If an abundance of young hoppers is observed in the spring, the fields and grasslands where they occur should be dragged with a hopper-dozer. This hopper-dozer is a long, shallow galvanized or wooden trough, which is filled with crude oil and along the back side is fitted a back stop about three feet high. When it is dragged through the field, the hoppers attempt to jump over it. They strike against the back stop and fall into the crude oil.

Burning over the grass lands before the hoppers get their wings is sometimes practical.

The poison bran mash is an effective poison for grasshoppers, and has been used successfully for their control in a great number of cases. Be sure to add the salt, since grasshoppers appear especially fond of this material. Broadcast the mash over an infected field or sow in drill rows at right angles to their course of travel, as they enter the field. The poison bran is prepared as follows:

Coarse Bran.....16 pounds
Paris Green.....½ pound
Salt.....2 ounces
Cheap Sirup.....1 quart
Warm water to make a coarse, crumbly mash.

Do not get the mash sloppy. It should fall apart readily in the hand after pressing together. If lead arsenate is used instead of paris green, increase the amount one-half. The quantity given is sufficient to broadcast over one acre, or scattered in drill rows, will extend over a greater area.

WEED SEEDS ARE EXPENSIVE

Many a Farmer Pays Dearly for Privilege of Planting Something He Would Be Better Rid Of.

(By S. B. NUCKOLS, Colorado Experiment Station.)

Many farmers are paying as much as a dollar per pound for the opportunity to plant, on the farm, several pounds of weed seed each year. Others do not pay as much for the opportunity to sow the seed but the cost of eradicating these weeds costs them many hours of labor and no small amount of money. The manner in which they avail themselves of the opportunity varies, but to give a specific and true example—an actual occurrence.

Two samples of alfalfa seed are offered for sale, one for $20 per hundred and the other for $16 per hundred. Sample No. 1 tests as follows:

Weed seeds, none.
Chaff and dirt, none.
Germination, 94 per cent perfect.

Sample No. 2 tests:

Weed seed, seven per cent, much of which is sweet clover which is not very noticeable to the average farmer.
Chaff and dirt, two per cent.
Germination, 80 per cent perfect.

If you buy 100 pounds of No. 1 you get 94 pounds of seed that will grow at a cost of $20, or a cost of $21.28 for 100 pounds of perfect seed.

For No. 2 you pay $16 for 71 pounds of perfect seed, or $22.54 for 100 pounds of perfect seed.

In the above case you pay $1.26 for the privilege of planting seven pounds of weed seed on your farm. Even greater variations than the above can be given. Every man should know how good the seed is that he is planting.

MOVABLE FENCE FOR SHEEP

A movable fence for soiling sheep is made in panels as seen in the illustration. The panels are ten feet long, made of four-inch boards solidly nailed together. After this fence is once put up, sheep or hogs are not likely to overturn it. A fence three and one-half feet high will turn most flocks.

BUYING NEW COWS FOR DAIRY

Animals Who Have Lost Capacity for Handling Home-Grown Roughage Should Be Avoided.

In buying new cows for the dairy one should buy from farmers who practice rational methods of feeding, preferably from those who do not feed too much grain and rich concentrates.

Many cows have been fed so much grain that they have lost their capacity for handling home-grown roughage.

Such cows are no longer profitable dairy producers and should be avoided when buying new cows for the dairy.

WAS DOUBLING UP ON LIFE

Small Girl's Unfortunate Remembrance of Mother's Remark Caused Embarrassment.

Col. George Harvey said at a banquet in his honor in New York:

"We editors like criticism, especially when it is of the very favorable kind that I've received this evening.

"But not all criticism is favorable, even for the most successful editors. A good many editors, in fact, often find themselves in the position of the rich old broker whose little grandniece said:

"'Uncle, how long do people live?'

"'The natural span of man's life,' the uncle answered, 'is, as the Good Book tells us, three score years and ten.'

"'Oh, then you'll live to be one hundred and forty, won't you uncle?'

"The old man looked around the room crowded with relatives and laughed heartily.

"'Why, no,' he said. 'Why, no. How do you make that out?'

"'Isn't it true, then,' said the little girl—'isn't it true what mamma says about you living a double life?'"—Washington Star.

Tough Luck.

"You remember that chap Jones who made a bet of ten thousand dollars that he would walk from San Francisco to New York without a cent in his pocket?"

"Yes. Did he win the bet?"

"Not quite. He got as far as Philadelphia, and there he was arrested as a vagrant and forced against his will to ride three blocks in a patrol wagon. That disqualified him."

A Greater Surprise.

"Where are you goin', ma?" asked the youngest of five children.

"I'm going to a surprise party, my dear," answered the mother.

"Are we all goin', too?"

"No, dear; you weren't invited."

After a few moments' deep thought: "Say, ma, then don't you think they'd be lots more surprised if you did take us all?"

Time Required.

"How long does it take you to go fishing?"

"Well, if you consider the time I actually fish, it takes only a few hours. But if you count in the time I consume waiting for conditions to be just right and arranging for bait, it takes several weeks."

Raw Material.

"Did you hear about Scribbler? The police caught him walking out of a hotel writing room with about ten dollars' worth of the hotel stationery under his coat."

"What did he have to say for himself?"

"Said he was gathering material for a novel."

Keeping Up Appearances.

"What's the use of buying a fly swatter?" growled Mr. Cobbles. "A folded newspaper does well enough."

"Do you think I'm going to swat flies with a folded newspaper when there are visitors here, Henry Cobbles?" asked Mrs. Cobbles. "I should say not!"

I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

'Squire Cyrus Brungart, on Monday, gathered several bushels of peaches from his thrifty young orchard in the borough. The fruit is of exceptionally fine quality, perfect in development and very luscious, all of which is the result of the spraying operations conducted during the blossoming period. That spraying pays, and pays well, is a firmly rooted belief in the 'Squire's giant make-up, and the first gathering of the fruit is a tangible evidence. Mr. Brungart expects his little orchard to yield over one hundred bushels of peaches this year.

Mrs. Mary Dinges returned on Saturday from a five weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Williamsport and Lewisburg. Mrs. Dinges, in spite of her eighty-seven years, made the trip unaccompanied, and enjoyed every day of her visit. At the former place she was entertained by a cousin, Marshall Hall, and at Lewisburg she spent the time at the G. W. Ocker home. Mrs. Dinges has the distinction of being Centre Hall's oldest resident, but the agility with which she moves about and the full possession of her mental faculties which she enjoys, hardly impress one with the weight of years which she carries.
